Riyadh: Malayalam social workers have helped a Native of Rajasthan who was in distress in Saudi Arabia after he was not paid and was not treated when he was infected. Pramod, a native of Rajasthan Bikaner, had been working as a carpenter for a construction company in Alhassa Masroya in the Saudi Eastern Province for the past four years.

For the past three months, he had not been paid from the firm where he worked after the corona-era financial crisis. He fell ill but had no money and could not even pay for treatment. Pramod then asked the New Age philanthropist for help on the phone at the behest of some friends. New Age philanthropists Ziad Pallimukku and Mani Marthanda went to see Pramod and saw his plight and provided little financial assistance.

They spoke to the sponsor and asked him to send him to the country with dues and benefits. But after the sponsor failed to cooperate, Pramod filed a case in the labour court. When the case was called in court, the sponsor appeared and settled the case in a discussion with New Age philanthropists in the presence of the labour officer.
